Vision: The Power That Shapes the Future

In order to succeed in your career and in life, you need to focus on where you are headed and what you want to achieve. Vision can empower you and your organization by providing you with direction and the determination to reach your goals. On a higher level, your vision may positively shape your community, your country, or the world.

On March 15, 2006, three prominent keynote speakers with diverse experiences and backgrounds will share how they were able to focus their vision to reach their personal and professional goals. Twenty different breakout sessions led by accomplished presenters and panelists will cover important topics such as organizational improvement, entrepreneurship, international business, diversity, and personal development.

We would like to thank all of our sponsors listed below. As a result of their generosity we are able to offer this conference at a very reasonable cost.

Please join us for an enriching educational experience at Bryant University's 2006 Women's Summit ... Vision: The Power that Shapes the Future.
